Lincoln County serves as a gateway between the agricultural region that covers much of the lower two-thirds of Wisconsin and its vast Northwoods. Forests cover more than 70 percent of the county, with livestock, forage, and Christmas trees the primary agricultural enterprises. Lincoln County ranks in the top three in state in the value of Christmas tree production. Dairy remains vital to Lincoln County as the main agricultural enterprise. Lincoln County is also home to diverse family owned farms that consist of poultry and livestock, fruit and vegetables, nursery and greenhouse, and maple syrup.
